To whom it may concern,

For the last year and a half, I've had the pleasure of working with Chelsea Tang. During that time, she has proven to be an extraordinarily enthusiastic and reliable member of the team. Always eager to learn, Chelsea possesses the perfect blend of working knowledge and willingness to expand her horizons as a designer. She is also extraordinarily collaborative, not only engaging members of her own team, but has been critical in bringing together our design and technology teams.

Chelsea has a bright future ahead of her and would make a great addition to any team. Speaking on behalf her friends and colleagues at Ascentium, she will be greatly missed.

Sincerely,
James Robinson
